*The Mission of the Independent Community
Bankers of South Dakota
is to help community
banks succeed.*

The Independent Community Bankers of South Dakota is dedicated to protecting and enhancing the franchise value of South Dakota's community-based financial institutions for the benefit of consumers. ICBSD is a trade association organized under the laws of the state of South Dakota which gives community banks a solid voice at the State Legislature, in addition to providing association members with professional education opportunities and statewide networking among community banks.

ICBSD is a growing and dynamic trade association dedicated to providing its members with a competitive edge by joining the many individual and varied talents of independent community bankers so as to enable them to compete in the rapidly changing financial services marketplace.

The associate members of ICBSD partner with us, for the betterment of community banking in our state, by offering the many products and services needed by our member banks.

As the only trade association in our state exclusively representing independent community banks, our focus on banking issues comes from the perspective of a community banker and we believe that our association provides a necessary platform on issues and services that is not currently provided by other financial trade associations. Furthermore, the ICBSD enjoys collaborative relationships with the Independent Community Bankers of America and other state community banking associations. Whenever possible, we work with them on relevant issues.
